LETTER OF ADMIRAL CHARLES WAGER

Admiralty Office 2: Mar: 1737.

Sir

I ask pardon for not owning the receit of your kind Letter of the 19 Feb: before now which I hope you will excuse considering it did not call for an immediate answer. I am extreamly obl: to you for the particular favour you was so kind to shew to my Nephew Mr Watson who is now returned, and is very sensible of your civility and kindness to him. I suppose the Affairs of your Mission goes on as fast as you expected it would and perhaps may end without your making Converts on either side, but this you may say is no business of mine. I hope it will not be too troublesome and tiresome to you. The French have made a new proposal to regulate the Trade in the West Indies: and it being a little dishonourable to recede or give up their Treaty of 1727, which you will well remember was in many particulars contrary to the Treaty of 1686, they have willing to have a new Treaty to come as near as we can be persuaded to it, to the said Treaty and this as before has been referr'd to your Board, and to our

Hon: Col: Bladen

We

We have already made our Representations differing but little from what we said before, their proposals look very smooth, as if they were really willing to refer our Navigation to the Spanish more unmolested than it has been; it will be said that we are obliged to Governor Mathews for this good disposition of theirs: however as we have reason always to suspect their good intentions so we have been perhaps too cautious in giving our opinion about it, but refer as we did before, to the Board of Trade, who are much better judges in these affairs than we pretend to be. We think it is possible we may have our Tracts to make our Navigation in the West Indies much freer and better than their Edicts and their Letter than the Manner but made it. We have now a new and strong complaint from the West India Merchants against the Spanish Guarda de Costas who they say have carried into the Havana two considerable ships from Jamaica, the one loaden with Provision for Jamaica into Portobello, the Merchants complaining (by Petition to the King) were sent to attend the Council at the Duke of Montagu's Office, where about 150 appeared, two thirds of which I dare say had no concern in the affair complained of however it really concerns all that Trade that was especially to Jamaica, for Insurance is given from 5 to 10 pr Cent. but when they come to make out the proof of the Ship carrying into the Havana, it was only then that a Ship is arrived at Bristol who was stopped & searched by some Spanish Guard de Costes, near the Havana and these Spaniards tell the Master, that they had carried these Ships into the Havana, perhaps Logwood or some other Contraband on board: these Ships not being arrived makes it believed that this is true; I think the question will be how long we shall have Log Wood or even pieces of Eight in our Possession before it shall become not Contraband or prohibited, and how the Spaniards can distinguish between a South Sea Company pr of 8 and a privileged pr of 8. but indeed the Insolence with which they treat our people on these occasions must not be suffered: they have some of our Seamen at Cadiz near two years and force them to go to Sea in their men of War &c where they make them navigate their Ships for them or stay to the rest without Wages or Cloths to their backs. The Ships carry into Portorica you have seen the Affidavits of in the News papers: Gibraltar was so sensible of

then that being an illegal Captive that he dos pretend the Merchts concerned in that Ship that he himself will be security that they shall be fully satisfyd for their loss in that Ship or that he does not, if you will be Complaining however those that did come complaine for them and made it their principal Case having the Best proof of it. this affair has been considered in Council more than once, and a strong Memorial intending to sent to Mr Keen to present to the King of Spain demanding instant satisfaction for these and other Depredations done lately in the Mediteranean or that we shall be obliged to take it, or grant Reprisals this may possibly produce a new Rupture with Spain as good a Peace as that we may possibly have upon Same I am come to Town with my family and my Wife has been laid up with a Feve and Cough ever since, it is sooner what is going about as they call it, but we both joyn in our Complaints and best respects to you and your family; and hope we shall see you here before the Parliament meets, where they say we shall have the same thing over again: do me the favour to make my Compliments to your Lady, and believe me to be

PREFATORY NOTE

This list is based upon a collection of manuscripts which once belonged to George Chalmers, of England. The volumes were purchased by Peter Force, and with his collection came into the possession of the Library of Congress in 1867. Known as the Vernon-Wager Papers, they comprise the correspondences of two men, Sir Charles Wager and Edward Vernon. They cover a very interesting period in the history of the English operations in the West Indies. The expedition against Cartagena and Cuba, a proposed expedition against Georgia and Florida, and the attempts to suppress piracy on the Spanish main, constitute the naval features. The slave trade, the commercial operations of the South Sea Company, and much relating to Jamaica, the Bahamas, and Nova Scotia, are matters of civil concern. The light thrown upon the history of North America and upon British Colonial policy is important; as is also the development of naval regulation and policy when Great Britain was contesting with Spain the supremacy in the West Indies.

The list has been prepared by Mr. John C. Fitzpatrick, of the Division of Manuscripts.

PART OF A LETTER OF
VICE-ADMIRAL EDWARD VERNON

Burford June 3d 1740

P.S.

I have only to add in this that on her Grace's last orders, on the 3d of may, I have changed the whole disposition of my squadron, and must beg leave to refer you, to my letter to her Grace, for the reasons that induced me to it.

I have a short letter, from you in the Weanen, in which you think, something might be done at St Jago, its neighbourhood to this place, and knowing how aggreable it would be to Lord Hand, as well as being your recommendation, has set me, upon making all possible enquiries, how it could be effected. But the channell going in, is so exceeding narrow, and no Anchorage there, to the South side, for hoping to have a ship off, if the gate above has made me, deem it an impracticable attempt, to go in with ships, without being master of the forts, which might probably be easily effected, by troops that could be landed in a good Bay for that purpose some few leagues to Windward of St Jago last Mayne, and Douglas, to Cruize, between the Havanag and la Vera Cruz, the Torrington to strengthen the home bound Convoy, and see them safe to the Windward passage or past the Havanag, the spy to watch further Security, against that St Jago privateer the Dunkerk, Hampton Court, Windsor, Wrexford, Greenwich, and Chatham ships, to sail with me the 5th designing to Cruize off St Martha, and be back in a month, to meet the Jamaica Convoy coming home; the prince Louisa, to go to the Warfe to careen, and Commodore Brown left behind, to command in my absence.

Your most obliged and obedient humble servant

E Vernon

PLAN FOR AN ATTACK ON MANILA

PREPARED BY ADMIRAL WAGER, 1739

The Expedition to Manilla is to consist of

		Guns
1	ship of —	60
2	——	50
1	——	40
1	Sloop —	10

Two or three Transports to carry Ordnance Stores and Provision Victuals, &c —
To be carried in the Men of War — Stores than 1,000 Soldiers viz One Regiment of 700 Men and 300 Invalids.
The particular of Ordnance Stores are not yet exactly determined. but care will be taken that every thing that is necessary shall be sent having his Maj.ty Order for that purpose.

It is also proposed to send the same number of Ships to the South Sea to drive off the Spaniards in that part of the World; by taking their Ships and all their Embarkations many of which are very rich especially those which carry the Treasure from Lima to Panama Many places on that Coast are weak and defenceless not having known War, except by a few Buccaneers or Pyrats, who have formerly done them great Damage
There is also a probability of withdrawing the Vice Roy and people of Peru to Revolt from the Spanish Government, and making themselves independant of it especially if a number of Troops can be conveyed thither by way of Panama 1,000, is thought to be sufficient and 1,000, or more to be left at Panama to which place they may march over land from Porobel or the River

Chagres

Chagre from whence it is not above two da March to Panama which be easily taken, as it is believed, with two thousand men.

An Expedition against Cartagena will require about six Ships of the Line of Battle to be joyn to those with Vernon: It will require 4,000 Soldiers properly Commanded which number must have at least 6,000 Men of Transports with a sufficient quantity of all sorts of Ordnance, Stores proper for a Seige, and such an Enterprize.
The strength of Cartagena shall be particularly shewn in a day or two

If the Expedition against Cartagena should by any accident miscarry: or that the Place should be taken and kept two thousand men probably be thought sufficient for a garrison there, and the rest may be sent to Portobel and Panama as above mentioned

If the French should send a strong Squadron to Cartagena to joyn those of Spain for the protection and security of the Galleons in their passage from so that it may not be thought advisable to make an Attempt on Cartagena while they are there, nor to attack the French, tho the Treasure should be on board them. for which they must go to Portobel and return to Cartagena: Cartagena may be attempted the more easily when they are gone: or the Expedition to Panama may be proceeded on if the Spanish men at Cadix should get away they may be destroyed at Vera Cruz.
